

One group says weekend won't be a record-breaker

Friday, 03 July 2009

Holiday weekends have a large impact on tourism at Delmarva beach resorts, but Triple-A Mid-Atlantic is expecting a dip in the number of people traveling for the holiday, even though gas prices are quite a lot lower than last year. However, resort officials are hopeful that sunny weather will still bring the crowds in for the weekend.